Dorset's Finest Roadside Food

Your food is our business

Ask most people what they would expect from a 'burger van' or general mobile catering unit and they would probably describe the majority of them as being aesthetically and hygienically disappointing; selling truly predictable menu items that are poor quality, greasy, bland and overpriced. We prefer to think of ourselves as a 'bistro wagon'. Our aim was to provide the very finest roadside food in Dorset, and according to our customers that is exactly what we have done! Sins are proud to have succeeded in building a reputation for providing "extraordinarily good food." Whilst we offer all of your usual favourites, we also offer some more surprising choices that should satisfy the most discerning of eaters.
